doing well and holding their own all the way through the other event. Yet.-Sergi. Perry took first in the Nursery end prize-in the other events, while Constable Hail carried off the Nursery Aggregate—Arch deacon McKay's cup and several other miner.

In the Grand Aggregate for the Mer-Matches the scoring was very close, there being only ten points difference between first and sixth place. Mosers, Kerr and Williamson are to be congratulated on their excellent shooting, taking first and second places respectively. Taken altogether the officers and members of the Association are to be congratulated on the success of his meeting, and we shope they will go on and prosper and that next year will see them in possession of a sufficient number of Martini rifles to conduct the future nicetic g. Mr. Moral of R gins has introduced shorter or his size respecting municipal assessment and collection of axis and Rocess and Access when the constant polynomial and serious a "The Optional Assessment as he has been advocated by the constant polynomial and collection of axis and forces and the cived as "The Optional Assessment as he has been advocated by the constant polynomial and the cived as "The Optional Assessment as he has been advocated by the constant polynomial and the cived as "The Optional Assessment as he has been advocated by the constant polynomial and the cived as "The Optional Assessment and collection of a cived as "The Optional Assessment and cived as "The Optional Assessment and cived as "The Optional Assessmen es and hooness, and is cited as "The Optional Ass senson! J. doe." The question of single tax has long been advocated by Henry Gorge The many avris of the present system of tax ion have been therrughly and ably discussed by him. The principal of single tax has now many alvo asks and supporters, because by such a system the millionaires, money lend and supporters, because by such a system the midionaires, money lend ets, banks, professional men and other now free from taxation, will by such an ordinance be forced to contribute to the treasuries of the various mannicipalities, so that taxation will be mor equally distributed and the great bull of taxes will not fall almost entirely upon those who expend large amounts upon those who expend targe amounts on buildings and other improvements and may have but a small amount of property. The great inequalities of the present system of taxation is becoming more apparent to everyone. As the system is at present, these who erset valuable buildings and thus entrance the value of the curroun ling. ation, while others who may hold times as much land, pay out a very small tax, The or lineace is an op-ion done, and it will rest with the ratepayers to say whether it will come into force in any manisipal or not. The bill has passed its a condirecting Al.
